CITY Washington, D. C.

ANDREW TULLEY INTERVIEWED

FRED GALE: Mr. Tulley is here. He finally arrived.

ANDREW TULLEY: You're talking about this business of counting up the chickens before Thanksgiving.

GALE: Yes. I don't know whether somebody used a board or...

TULLEY: Well, that's typical of the miserable, sick city that passes as the District of Columbia.

GALE: What city?

TULLEY: This euphemism for a city.

GALE: Yes.

TULLEY: This euphemism for self-government.

GALE: I would agree wholeheartedly.

TULLEY: Anybody who does business in the District of Columbia is an idiot.

GALE: Yes, but some of have to. You know, we live there, have for years...
